SIGH FOR "GOOD OLD TIMES."

Wearisome Members of Used-to-Be Club at Washington.

This is the time of the year, when the lean-shanked, cling to the covers until the last call for breakfast and the ice water in the shower hisses like steam when it hits the chests of the full-blooded, that all the members of the Used-to-Be club come out of hiding and begin to disturb the air. I met one of them—a newspaper man, too—on the street the other day. He bemoaned the fact that we never have skating any more. According to his highly veracious remarks the Potomac river used to freeze about the 1st of August and stay frozen until the 1st of May. It was an easy thing in his youthful days to skate from Washington to Alexandria or Marshall Hall or Indian Head, right out in the middle of the channel. Honestly, it was. Why, he used to do it pretty nearly every day, between lunch and dinner. Honestly, he did. But nowadays there never is any ice. The river never freezes and skates are a drug on the market. These are bum times. Honestly, they are!

That's the line of talk that is being handed out these sunny days, and it is enough to make a normal-minded man tired enough to sleep for three days without turning over. This, however, is only one feature of the activities of the Used-to-Be club. There are other members who wall over the passing of everything from the recipe for that famous time-fused colonial punch to the lumbering stage coach which preceded the present methods of rapid transit.

But what's the use? Anything in human guise that doesn't consider these times of airships and open plumbing just the best old times that ever prevailed since the world began ought to go home and take a large, glazed pill. His liver is on strike.—Washington Star.

SAYS THE OWL.

A man is never sure he knows until he makes good.

An ounce of accomplishment is worth a ton of theories.

A silly woman tries to drive a man; a wise one leads him.

You can't always judge the show by the price of admission.

A woman will do a lot of cheeky things to improve her complexion.

Fortune is sometimes fickle, but misfortune is always sincere.

You'll do the right thing if you stop growling about an imaginary wrong.

Don't invest your money in a scheme because it figures out well on paper.

The one way to get the best of people is to catch them at their worst.

When a jealous man marries a jealous woman there is something doing every minute.

Every mother knows that her own children are superior to any other children on the market.

Give people what you think they want instead of what they ask for, and you'll make a lot of enemies.

SUNFLOWER PHILOSOPHY.

Some people act ridiculous and then become indignant because people tell it.

If you promise to be at a certain place at a certain time, get there, or send a note that you can't come.

Some women should explain why a woman thinks her toilet isn't complete unless she has a dab of powder on her nose.

It is a boy's opinion that when the preacher offers thanks at the table he has a perfect right to peep to see if there is anything on the table worth giving thanks for.

The talk of an afternoon reception where there are 200 or 300 women is said to remind the silent spectator of a train rushing through a succession of short tunnels.

So many varieties of cakes, cookies and crackers are put up in fancy boxes that children are being brought up without ever seeing their mothers make cookies, or receiving, as a reward for being good, a cookie-man.—Aitchison (Kan.) Globe.

MERE OPINION.

Few things are more common than seriousness.

Every cheerful thought points the way to another.

Politeness is like medicine. Too much of it is sickening.

The child that is paid to be good forgets as soon as the money is gone.

Declining to waste precious moments in nursing hatred for him is the sorest defeat you can inflict upon your enemy.

The man who goes to the bad because of unrequited love would probably have gone for some other reason if his love had been returned.
